

Power of Team Awareness – Course Outline

How do you create a culture that fosters collaboration? In Team Awareness, we take a bottom-up approach; understanding individual preferences first and then using this information to create a common language that facilitates collaboration within the team.

Learning Objectives:

In this workshop we highlight:

- Gain insight and awareness about yourself and your team
- Understand the dynamics of your team: strengths, vulnerabilities, and potential biases
- Improve team collaboration and communication skills
- Determine strategies to improve team results
- Learn how pattern recognition leads to more effective teamwork

Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this module, students will be able to:

- Understand how Emergenetics frames differences in personality and how these affect one's experience of the world
- Understand how personality differences are interpreted by others
- Reframe one's interpretation of the world in light of this understanding
- Feel confident in using Emergenetics tools to make better workplace decisions
- Identify strategies for improving workplace results and effectiveness
